Journey Forward®

with Joree Rose

the podcast that inspires, motivates and guides others in how to get unstuck and create lasting change towards happiness, authenticity and living fully.

We all get stuck in our lives.

So many people race through life on autopilot, going through the motions of the days and the weeks, to just knock items off their to-do list, and then lay awake at night with a racing mind and thoughts that won't stop, only to wake up and do it all again the next day. We don't know how to slow down, breathe and just be.

We also get lost amongst our roles as parents and/or partners, and while self-care is necessary, it's often guilt-ridden, making us feel like it can only come after everyone else's needs are met; it can be hard not to feel selfish for trying to honor our own needs.

And since the mind works by comparison, whether we are comparing ourselves to where we think we "should" be at this point in our lives, or we are comparing ourselves to others who are putting out the best version of their lives on social media, our persistent and pervasive judgments, expectations, and "shoulds" can wreak havoc on attaining happiness.

Additionally, it's easy to get stuck in old stories, past pains, hurts or wounds that we think define us, but we don't always know how to let go of what's too heavy to carry.

Journey Forward® with Joree Rose is the reminder that change and growth are all possible! It takes awareness, attention and intention to create new habits, patterns and mindsets that will put you on a new trajectory.
